A: I'm using MediaInfo to extract subtitles. You can download the proper language and subtitles file and merge them by creating a single file. Here's a script I created to extract the subtitle from mediainfo output: `#!/usr/bin/env bash for i in $(cat MediaInfo.log); do url=`echo $i | sed -n '3p` to_get=`echo $i | sed -n '7p` cat $url >./${to_get}-${i}.srt done You can play your video with ffplay "${1}" -vf subtitles=./${to_get}-${i}.srt` Q: how to turn off "hand moving" in unity by touching or dragging I don't want my mouse to be dragged by my hands when I touch/drag my mouse. I'm guessing I need to set some variables? When I touch my mouse, I want my mouse to move up, then to the right, then back down, then to the left, then back down. This is how I'm doing it at the moment. `public class : MonoBehaviour { //A function that listens for touch events. void OnTouchDown(TouchEventType e) { //An if statement that checks if the left mouse button is pressed down if (e.rawType == TouchEventType.TouchDown) { //Moves the mouse to the left, and down Application.mouse.SetPosition(Application.mouse.GetPosition() - new Vector2(e.position.x, e.position.y)); Application.mouse.SetPosition(Application.mouse.GetPosition() + new Vector2(e.position.x, e.position.y)); } } //A function that listens for mouse events. void OnMouseDown(MouseEventType e)`
